SCULPTURE AND DRAWING EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY AT KU GALLERY

DAYTON, Ohio -- The Kennedy Union Gallery at the University of Dayton will present an exhibit of metal sculptures by Jeff Rutledge and charcoal drawings by Victoria Lucous from Oct. 31 to Nov. 23. Admission is free and open to the public.

Rutledge, who grew up in Dayton and is manager of the Rutledge Gallery on North Main Street, works with unpainted welded steel sculptures because he loves "experimentation and the physicalness of making things," Rutledge says. He has had exhibits on display in Chicago, Cincinnati and at the Rutledge Gallery.

Lucous, a full-time instructor at Sinclair Community College, will be displaying a collection of charcoal drawings. "The works are lyrical, fun and approachable," she says. "Looking at them makes me feel good. It's all about joy and love and having fun."

The Kennedy Union Gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

For more information, call the Kennedy Union director's office at (513) 229-3333.
